Prompt Pace of Play

A round of golf is meant to be played at a prompt pace. Every player can affect how long it will take others to play their rounds.

Players are encouraged to allow faster groups and single players to play through.

Players should play at a prompt pace throughout their round, including the time taken to:

- Prepare for and make each stroke,
- Move from one place to another between strokes, and
- Move to the next teeing area after completing a hole.

Players should prepare in advance for their next stroke and be ready to play when it is their turn to play, taking their stroke in no more than 40 seconds once they are (or should be) able to play without interference or distraction. Players should usually be able to play more quickly than this and are encouraged to do so. If appropriate, players may play out of turn to help the pace of play (see Rule 6.4a and 6.4b).
